Community Outreach Coordinator

Tim Williams is the Community Outreach Coordinator for the Harmony District community revitalization initiative. A lifelong resident of Lorain, Ohio, Tim brings deep local roots, trusted relationships, and firsthand knowledge of the community to the work of rebuilding and strengthening the neighborhood.

A proud father of four, Tim is widely respected for his integrity, strong work ethic, and commitment to people. By day, he works as a truck driver—an experience that keeps him closely connected to working families, local businesses, and the everyday realities facing residents across Northeast Ohio.

Tim has been actively involved in the Lorain community for many years and has earned trust through consistency, honesty, and service. He believes that meaningful revitalization starts with listening and ensuring that residents' voices are heard, valued, and reflected in the future of their neighborhoods.

In his role with the Harmony District, Tim serves as a bridge between the development team and the community, fostering transparency, collaboration, and mutual respect. His passion for people, combined with his local credibility, makes him an essential part of the mission to create inclusive, community-driven growth that benefits both current residents and future generations.
